University of Arkansas, Fayetteville Master of Science in Construction Management

The proposed 30 credit hour online Master of Science in Construction Management degree will afford graduates the skills to plan and manage a construction project from its design until completion. Throughout the duration of the program, students will have the opportunity to obtain professional certifications from the Lean Construction Institute, Six Sigma, Project Management Professionals and others which should make the graduates very marketable. The Masters of Science in Operations Management, Engineering, and Civil Engineering will support the proposed program.

University of Arkansas Community College at Morrilton Certificate of Proficiency in Construction Technology Technical Certificate in Construction Technology

The proposed 15 credit hour Certificate of Proficiency and 30 credit hour Technical Certificate in Construction Technology programs will prepare students for careers in the construction industry. The programs will include coursework in applied mathematics, basic hand/electrical tool safety, OSHA regulations, construction fundamentals, carpentry, drywall, masonry, first aid, and highway construction. The proposed programs will be supported by existing programs in Industrial Mechanics and Maintenance; and Welding.
